Coaches' Perspectives

When we went to Empire Beach this year at cross country camp to see the sunset, we were looking forward to a beautiful one that this particular beach was known for. As the time drew near, some clouds gathered along the horizon, kind of “mucking up” the view we had hoped for, and after building up the moment all day long, it was disappointing and unsatisfying. But when I look back on the pictures of that evening, it’s not the slightly unimpressive sunset that I remember. I see the laughter and the beautiful colors of the sky. I see the camaraderie that made this team special. A good reminder that when things don’t end the way we pictured them ending, we have to widen our lens and take in the whole picture, not just focus on the clouds. And we have to remember that the sun is coming up again tomorrow on another day full of promise.

This was my 14th year of coaching cross country, and I can say without hesitation that I know less than ever—or at least that’s the way I feel. I am so grateful for the opportunity I get each season to learn about each new group of individuals, as well as the chance to learn from them. From each individual I learn something different about the best way to achieve success on the cross country course, as well as important lessons about how to best communicate with different types of people, and how to motivate them and give them the confidence to take the steps necessary for personal greatness.

One important lesson that I will take to heart from this season was that I often don’t take my own advice. I often tell our teams: Have faith. Believe in something you can’t yet see. Trust that what you are doing is right and good and productive, and even if it doesn’t look like it’s going in the right direction, see it through. When we didn’t get the results I felt we should right away, I doubted myself and my approach probably more than ever before, and it wasn’t until the last third of the season, that I knew that there would have been better ways to spend the energy I had wasted worrying.

I am so grateful for our resilient seniors and their steady determination in the midst of doubt and upheaval. I hope they are as proud as I am of a season that brought third-place conference honors and a fourth-place regional finish. I hope they are as proud as I am of the improvement we made as a group. I hope they know that they and their families have left a lasting legacy of doing things “the right way,” that will linger for years to come. Thank you for another great season of Waterford Mott Cross Country—and go blue!

Coach McNeil

Another group of great individuals made up two wonderful teams of boys and girls for this year's 2018 Cross Country season. Veteran Mott athletes familiar with the competitive running scene shepherded our new group of runners through a season of personal, as well as team growth. Our seasonal traditions of summer runs and camp up north were anticipated by all with great excitement and didn't fail to satisfy. Going into our Labor Day weekend race we had a group of eager, race-ready runners and support crew looking forward to another landmark event in everyone's journey as a cross country runner whose summer is coming to a close. As one of the eager, though not race ready Mott faithful, my designs for this year's team were nearly, but not entirely, complete. With three Seniors on the roster and another strong upper classman I knew that the potential to make a very special team statement was possible. My sense was that individual accomplishments would be the key to exceptional team results, and in that vein worked to set goals that focused on each runner's needs.

The more time I spend in this sport the more I'm of the opinion that a season of cross country mirrors a lifetime. Excitement turns into the mundane, goals are either attained, modified, or scrapped altogether to take on new challenges as we learn more about our true passions and ability to tolerate the often-times tedious; this season was no different. Our easy summer together became the September energy that distances us from our 8 a.m. runs and Camp Leelanau fun. In a sport where accomplishments are measured weekly and with increasing importance as a season progresses, the likelihood that expectations may not always be met is high. As our individual season's unfolded the challenges that our circumstances brought were met with courage and determination; in the end a greater degree of insight was gained by all. Our accomplishments were many, but not as many as we would have liked. The memories of our time together will be fond, but perhaps not as intense as we would like. Our time spent on task was purposeful and worthwhile, but perhaps not to the extent that we would have liked. For the Seniors it was our final Fall together sharing a concentrated amount of time in a microcosm of our lives. Our returners have the luxury of taking this speech home and using it to make the most of their experience next Fall. I hope I'm right about the fond memories, feelings of accomplishment, and it all being worthwhile; I certainly feel that way. I'm most hopeful that after this season together we all have a better appreciation for our individual potential and the steps each of us can take in the future to make it a reality.

Thank you for another wonderful year as your coach, I will fondly remember the team from the season of 2018.

DAY 1

Summer Camp @ Camp Leelenau

August 17th-20th, 2018

Summer camp is an important part of Mott's pre-season preparation for the long racing season. This year marked the fifth consecutive year Mott travelled to northern Michigan's Camp Leelanau. The camp's secluded location near Glen Arbor, Michigan, is on a scenic, waterfront property surrounded by the Sleeping Bear Dunes National Lakeshore.

Day 1 - Warm-up

After claiming their bunks, unpacking and getting settled in, the athletes were ready to explore the familiar trails and warm-up for their first workout.

This year we were privileged to have a large group of young, enthusiastic Waterford middle school athletes join us for the adventure.

Day 1 - Workout

The first workout gave everyone a good indication of how their summer training was progressing. A short walk to the beach was the preferred choice to cool off after the run.

Day 1 ~ Cool Down

Unlike previous years, we had great weather for the entire camp experience. The lack of big waves was unexpected but did not keep anyone from having fun. Lake Michigan's cool water was the quickest way to cool down after training.

The nightly trip to Glen Arbor continues to be one of the most reliable traditions at camp. The town has many options for dessert, shopping or just hanging out. The Cherry Republic has become a familiar and very popular gathering place.

Another first for summer camp was the addition of core and strength training sessions led by our own expert, Mrs. Papenhagen. The sessions were very effective. Everyone had fun as evidenced by all the laughter.

DAY 2

Morning Run

The destination for the morning run was a 'seasonal road' located a short distance from camp. The easy 'out and back' run was just what everyone needed to prepare for the afternoon workout on the trails to Lookout Point. The section with the 'Road Closed' sign definitely required caution in certain spots.

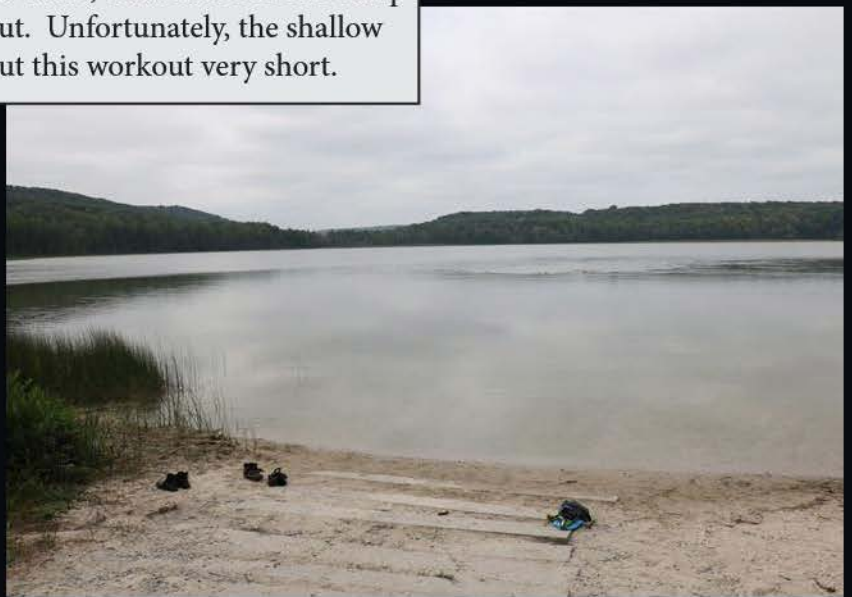

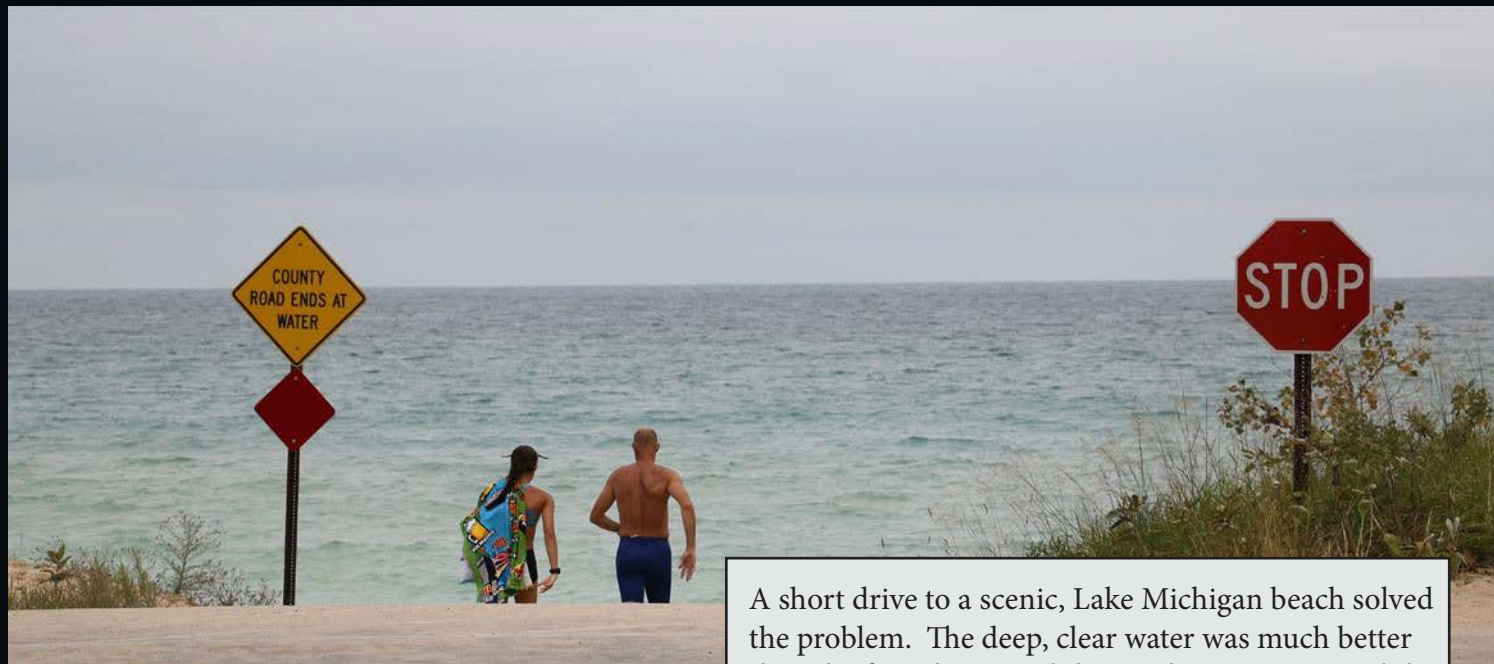

The swim workout was a special session just for Rylee. Her dad (a.k.a. Coach Robinson) discovered a small, calm lake close to camp that appeared perfect for this workout. Unfortunately, the shallow water, weeds and unpleasant smell cut this workout very short.

Day 2 - Swim Workout

A short drive to a scenic, Lake Michigan beach solved the problem. The deep, clear water was much better than the first choice and the gentle waves required the extra effort for a great workout.

The afternoon workout took the athletes on some hilly and scenic trails. The views from Lookout Point were amazing. Everyone would be back to this same location for their long run the following morning.

Day 2 - On the Court

There was time to show off basketball skills while everyone waited for another core workout session.

Day 2 - Core Workout

As everyone had come to expect on this trip, Mrs. Papenhagen led another fun, enthusiastic and effective workout.

... Back to the Beach

Another walk to the beach provided a quick cool down and some well-deserved time to search for Petoskey stones (and other treasures).

The nightly trip to Glen Arbor was relaxing. The trip provided a perfect opportunity for the boys to try out their skills in Cherry Republic's Championship Cherry Pit Spitting Arena.

DAY 3

Morning Run

The third day brought the athletes back to the familiar trails for their planned long run. Each athlete's goal was to maintain their predetermined pace for the duration of the run.

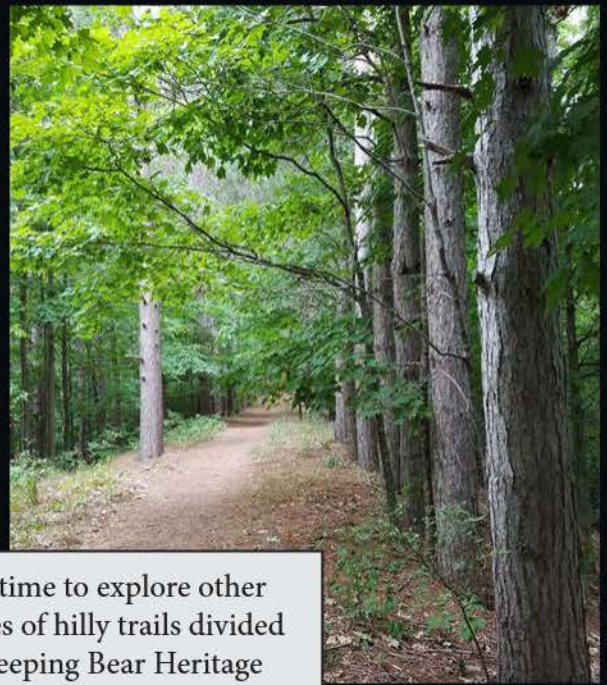

Mrs. Robinson's goal for the middle school athletes was simple. Keep them running for their predetermined time goal. She was brilliant in her methods to add fun (and distraction) to keep them going. Notice the 'flying pose' going down one of the steep hills.

Many of the experienced athletes used this long run as a time to explore other areas of the Bay View Trail system which included 8 miles of hilly trails divided into loops. Other athletes chose to run sections of the Sleeping Bear Heritage Trail. These trails were mostly paved with some packed gravel sections through the Port Oneida Rural Historic District.

Day 3 - The Canoe Trip

The much anticipated afternoon canoe trip down the Crystal River was a big success. The camp staff transported all athletes and canoes to the river and provided guidance and rules for making this a safe and fun adventure.

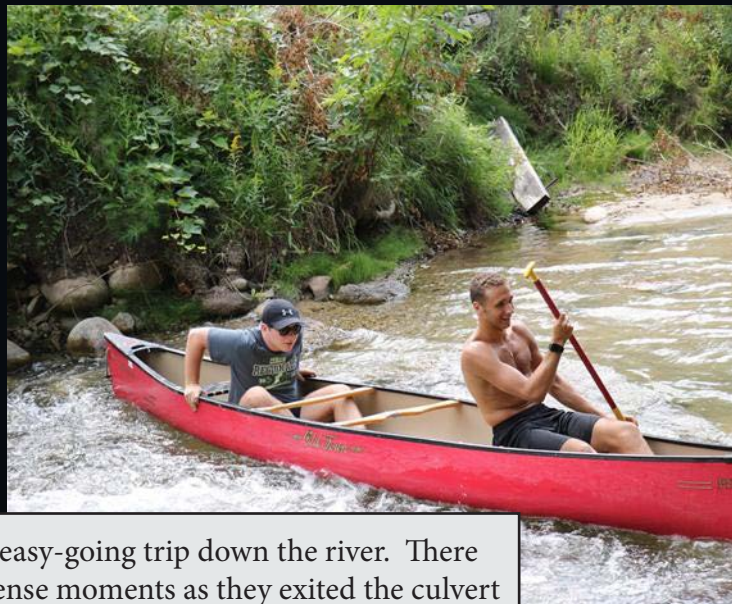

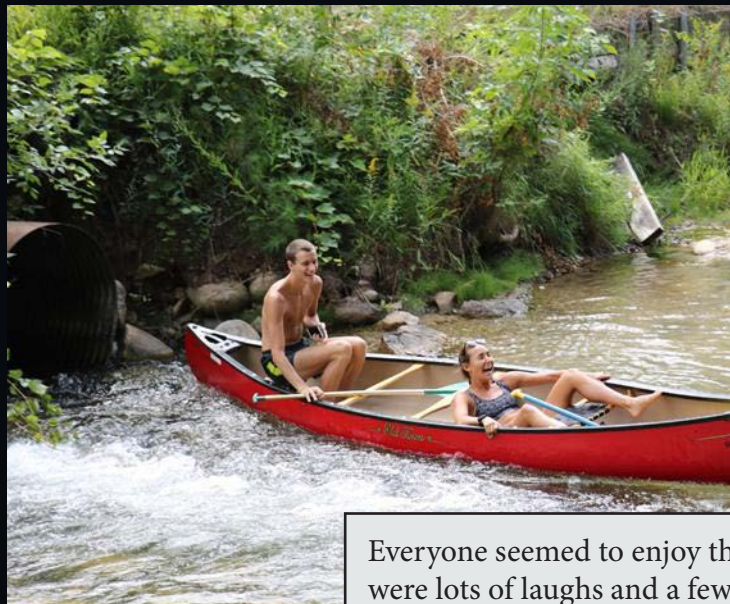

The usual 'traffic jam' developed at the launch point with just one capsized canoe. It's hard to tell from the photos if this one was intentional or just an 'accident'.

Everyone seemed to enjoy the easy-going trip down the river. There were lots of laughs and a few tense moments as they exited the culvert near the end of the journey. Despite the excitement, it looked like the Robinsons had a very relaxing afternoon!

Day 3 - More Core

One last core workout before dinner rounded out a busy day. The routine with the drumsticks was intense and quite entertaining to watch!

The evening trip to Glen Arbor was a quick stop this year so everyone would have time to drive to the beach in Empire to watch the sunset.

Day 3 - Evening

Empire's beach was a very popular place as everyone anticipated the sunset. Lots of photos and laughs with friends and teammates was a memorable way to spend the last evening at camp.

The Beach @ Empire

Even the very young, future athletes had a good time at the beach. But who left the swimsuits and change of clothes back at camp for Noah and Evan?

DAY 4

Final Workout

The final day of camp greeted everyone with more beautiful, sunny weather. The last item on the schedule was an interval workout followed by one extra set for the seniors as part of the traditional 'Senior Challenge'.

Day 4 - Intervals

Like last year, Mott was joined by a few other teams for the final workout. The preparation before the workout and the excitement at the starting line mimicked the atmosphere of a typical race day. This format was a great way for the athletes and coaches to assess their training and make adjustments for the upcoming season.

This year's summer camp was another great success for the athletes and coaches of Waterford Mott. Congratulations to everyone for their dedication, effort and commitment to Mott's cross country program. Go Mott!

Happy 17th Hunter!
